Wavy Gravy, former Woodstock movie star, Hog Farmer and admittedly Nobody's fool, was one of 500 supporters in Provo Park Sunday at a rally to promote the current "Nobody for President" campaign. In addition to the usual speeches and distribution of buttons and bumper stickers, the afternoon included entertainment by Billy Faier, the Ways of Merangue, Haze and a group called Yuck City, who performed acoustic ballads like "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "To Love Nobody," and "Nobody Knows You When You're Down and Out."
